How it works

It's called Orchestrated Collaboration™. Our unique platform aggregates demand from our shipping community with supply data from our carrier community, considers the specifications (e.g. equipment, weight, volume, location, and HOS constraints), and creates optimal round trip loads in specific lanes. Our technology creates the opportunities, then we step in and work with our members to facilitate collaboration.

As a result:

- ✓ You build long term relationships with tier one shippers that leads to reliable business and a predictable revenue stream
- ✓ You're able to bundle your head hauls and backhauls to reduce empty miles and get your drivers back home

Our carriers

We aren't just looking for any old carriers. We're looking for carriers who want to grow with us.

Our platform isn't a load board, and we don't believe in one off transactions or one night stands! Many of our carrier relationships have grown into partnerships that see carriers dedicating some or all of their capacity to us.

But we don't want to get ahead of ourselves...

See if you're a fit for our community by emailing us at dedication@semicab.com.

Meet SemiCab.
The easiest way
for carriers like you to ignite business growth.

We're a tech-driven company here to disrupt the old ways of the logistics industry. Our main goal is to see our community thrive. When you join our platform, you become a member of a group of successful shippers and competent carriers coming together to rid the full truckload (FTL) freight market of the volatility we've all been struggling with for way too long. We know that by joining forces, we can build a transportation community that empowers you to grow to your full potential.

What our carriers say:

“The SemiCab model provides predictable revenue which equips me to provide my crew with higher pay, exceptional benefits, and schedules they can thrive in.”

“I no longer have to chase rates. The rates I get with SemiCab are built around my true costs and a bit of profit.”

“Since I started working with SemiCab, they find the loads and I’m in charge of providing the trucks, scheduling the drivers, and maintaining my equipment. It’s a great partnership.”

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

New relationships can be full of uncertainty. We get that! Here are answers to the questions our new carriers often ask. If there’s something not covered here, send your question to: dedication@semicab.com and we’ll get right back to you.

Q: What kind of freight does SemiCab offer?

A: We offer local, regional, and long-haul full truckload (FTL) freight across the following truck types:

- Dry van: Regular (53’)
- Reefer: Regular (53’)
- Drop and hook programs

Our reach is across all 50 states, however, we currently have a strong presence in the Northeast, Southeast, Texas, and Southern California, running an average average of 5000 loads per year.

Q: Is there a cost to join/use the SemiCab platform?

A: Once you’re onboard, we’ll match you with best-fit opportunities at no cost to you.

Q: How do I get started?

A: Getting started with SemiCab is easy. Send an email to: dedication@semicab.com with your carrier packet attached and we’ll take it from there.

Q: Once I’m onboard, what can I expect?

A: Working with us is easy. Once you’re onboard, we present best-fit opportunities to you. Once you accept a load, the SemiCab app simplifies communications during transit. We won’t hassle you for updates and ETAs, as we can easily access all the data we need via the app.

After carrying a few loads for us, many carrier partners decide to dedicate some or all of their capacity to us. We’re focused on building regional networks and creating opportunities for carriers to venture beyond the unreliable load-by-load, lane-by-lane approach. We need carriers like you to lead the charge and take ownership of entire regions.

But it all starts with that first load!

Q: Does SemiCab offer QuickPay?

Yes! We’re committed to getting our carriers paid fast.

Q: What kind of support can I expect? What happens if I have a problem with a load?

When you join the SemiCab community, you become a valued partner, and we take that commitment seriously. You’ll have access to a team member 24/7.

Q: How is SemiCab different from a traditional load board and other digital freight platforms?

This isn’t your average tactical system that matches trucks with loads and leaves it to the shippers and carriers to do the heavy lifting. We know that technology can boost the benefits of collaboration, but it doesn’t enable it on its own.

Our key differentiator is what we call Orchestrated Collaboration™. We achieve this by optimizing aggregate demand and supply across a multi-enterprise network and continuously creating new collaboration opportunities for shippers and carriers to work together effortlessly.

Our approach differs greatly from other digital freight solutions that are focused on matching a single load at a time, don’t leverage the network as a whole, and leave the hard work of collaborating to the network participants themselves.
